

Crown is Springing into Summer with News

May 1, 2008

In This Issue

- The Arts & Crafts Collection
- New Crown Price Book
- AIA/CES

Contact Us

Crown Column & Millwork
3810 Pleasant Valley Road
Attalla, AL 35954
Ph. 888-862-0880
Fx. 256-538-1722
<http://www.crowncolumn.com/>

Arts & Crafts Collection

We have invested in a new state of the art CNC routing machine to produce our newest addition to the Crown Product Collections. The newly introduced line of Arts & Crafts Columns is available in a flat stock, L-wrap and preassembled cellular PVC. All Arts and Crafts columns will now be considered a standard stock item and will ship on your normal Crown truck schedule.

Advantages with the cellular PVC collection are numerous. The material does not split, rot, or crack. Cellular PVC is very durable and is backed by a 10 year warranty. Other advantages include the pricing and installation of the columns, which is very quick and easy.

Please check out our Arts & Crafts flyer at:

http://www.crowncolumn.com/files/Crown_AC_flyer_v4.pdf

Price Book

We have been working diligently to update our price book for you, our very valued customers, with all of our new product additions and current information. So check your mailbox as this has been mailed to you with an order form for additional copies. Please feel free to also download an electronic copy from our website at:

http://www.crowncolumn.com/files/final_Crown_price_book_2008.pdf

AIA/CES

We are pleased to announce that we are now an AIA/CES registered provider. This 5-Module course provides a solid introduction to the features and benefits of fiberglass and wood architectural columns. The course qualifies for 1 HSW (health, safety, welfare) continuing education credit from the American Institute of Architects. For more information you may contact BJaye at 888-862-0880 extension 116.

Thank You

A big thank you goes out to all of you for your tremendous support and hard work which enables us to continue making investments in new equipment and marketing programs such as the AIA/CES and growing our businesses together!